Clear Strategy. Steady Advocacy. Practical Solutions for Families in Transition.

Anne has practiced law since 2017, with a primary focus on litigation and dispute resolution before transitioning her practice exclusively to Family Law. She now assists clients navigating separation, parenting disputes, support issues, and division of property with a strategic, balanced, and solutions-oriented approach.

Having built a successful background representing clients on both sides of complex disputes, Anne developed strong skills in risk assessment, evidence analysis, negotiation, and anticipating litigation strategy. These strengths are particularly valuable in family matters where credibility, disclosure, and long-term financial stability are central.

Anne is known for her thorough preparation, clear communication, and measured advocacy. She supports clients through negotiation, mediation, arbitration, and litigation, always with a focus on outcomes that are legally sound, financially practical, and aligned with her clients' long-term personal priorities. Her practice emphasizes principled, pragmatic advocacy and a deep understanding of the human dynamics that shape family law disputes.

Drawing on her background in technology and systems-based thinking, Anne uses efficient processes and modern legal tools to reduce delay, manage costs, and keep files moving forward.

Anne is recognized by The Best Lawyers in Canada for "Ones to Watch" with her work in Personal Injury Litigation.
